LOVB HOUSTON ANNOUNCE 2026-27 SCHEDULE PRESENTED BY SEATGEEK

HOUSTON – The LOVB Houston 2026-27 schedule presented by SeatGeek features all 11 home games at Berry Center located in Cypress, including two home matches against in-state rival LOVB Austin. The team's regular season schedule will be highlighted by four Saturday night matches and one Friday night match at home.

LOVB Houston will kick off their 2026-27 campaign at home against Los Angeles on December 18 for an Opening Night game. On January 3, LOVB Houston will host Miami for a Hustle Town HERoes game that will spotlight the remarkable women whose courage, leadership, talent, and determination inspire others. The team will then go on the road for back-to-back road games for matches 4-5 as they take on Salt Lake and Minnesota. The team will return home to take on Salt Lake for a second time on January 17 for a Middle and Highschool Night game that will highlight the next generation of athletes in Houston-area schools. Fans will be encouraged to wear their school colors to represent their teams. On January 20, LOVB Houston will head back on the road to take on Atlanta.

The team will return home to Berry Center for three straight home matches. On January 30, LOVB Houston will take on San Francisco for a College Night game where fans are encouraged to represent their favorite collegiate teams. The team will then go on to host Minnesota on February 4, for a LOVB Her game to celebrate athletes, coaches, and leaders who continue to move women's sports forward. On February 6, LOVB Houston will host Austin for International Day to celebrate the cultures, traditions, and communities that make Houston one of the world's most diverse cities. LOVB Houston will head back on the road to face Salt Lake before returning home on February 17 to take on Atlanta for a special LOVB Our Fans game that recognizes the fans who continuously show their support and bring passionate energy to every match.

The team will then travel for three straight road games for matches 10-12 against Los Angeles, Nebraska, and Miami. On March 6, they will return home for four straight home games where they will first take on Madison for a Thrive and Vibe game that highlights the importance of taking care of your mind and body, while celebrating a wellness-focused night. Following the match on March 13, the team will host San Francisco for a Youth Club game, highlighting youth clubs, coaches, and families. Fans are encouraged to arrive in gear representing their youth teams. On March 17, the team will face Austin for a Texas Showdown game that will showcase Texas pride as the two teams go head-to-head. To close out the regular season home slate, the team will host Nebraska on March 21 for a Space City game to celebrate Houston's space exploration history and its legacy.

The team will then have four straight road games for matches 14-17, beginning with a matchup against Madison. LOVB Houston will then face Austin before traveling to take on San Francisco. The team will close out their season on April 9 with a final road match against Los Angeles.

LOVB Houston will begin their preseason on December 9 when they host one test match against Austin at the Berry Center. The test match will serve as a special Select-A-Seat event for fans interested in season tickets. Fans can register for the test match at lovbhouston.com/test-match.
